

EFFORTS TO PRESS FOR CONTINUANCE OF PARLEYS

British Help Doing Much to Bring About United Effort Necessary to Ultimate Success

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The House of Commons tonight passed a resolution in which a left-wing Laborite from the House of Commons, Mr. J. H. Thomas, called for the resumption of the King and Queen, as "parleys" between the two nations.

Muttering angrily to himself while the King was reading the lengthy speech from the throne in the House of Lords, Mr. Thomas, a member of the House of Commons, said that the heavy business of a new session after an unprecedented year in which a left-wing Laborite from the House of Commons, Mr. J. # CONFIDENCE IN A. A. MCKENZIE IS EXPRESSED

Hon. O. L. McPherson Issues Statement on Labor Protest

Answering the protest of the Alberta Federation of Labor and the Independent Labor party statements made by A. A. McKenzie, chairman of the Alberta Relief Commission on certain phases of the relief situation, the provincial government, in an official statement on the subject, given out through Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works and minister in charge of relief, reaffirms the government's confidence in Mr. McKenzie and states that "it is not considering any change in the post he now holds."

GOVERNMENT STATEMENT

The government statement is as follows: "The government has very carefully considered the protest that has been received from various sources with respect to the reported statement of A. A. McKenzie, chairman of the Alberta Relief Commission, as reported in the daily press some days ago. It would seem that as sometimes in the case of other officers holding administrative positions, the reported interview conveyed an erroneous impression."

"Dealing with the first complaint 'I was informed by him to admit that I came from Alberta'—the government is informed that this was not a part of his former statement to the press on his return from the east, but an invention of the certain remarks made by him during the course of conversation and had reference only to the commission he had faced in the east of relief costs in certain Alberta cities and not to the position of Alberta as a whole."

This complaint was made concerning reported statements of Mr. McKenzie with regard to conference on relief at Ottawa."

LITTLE CRITICISM

"The government is aware of the criticism of unemployment relief generally, as a matter of fact, with the exception of the province of Alberta, no city, the general administration of relief in this province has been favorably regarded and subjected to little criticism. The impression that the government had the impression that relief costs generally, in Alberta, are too high."

"The statement that men would be paid for their work in the relief work was not intended to convey the impression that all men on relief could earn this amount, but from personal knowledge of experience that was available to a greater extent than was being taken up."

WORK IS EFFICIENT

"Mr. McKenzie was appointed to his present position by the provincial government after consultation with the Dominion government and has been carrying on his work efficiently and well. He is not unduly impressed that all men on relief could earn this amount, but from personal knowledge of experience that was available to a greater extent than was being taken up."

Commission On Education Named

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Nov. 22.—With a view to raising the standard of education in the province of Newfoundland, the government has appointed a commission of 10 members to consider the present curriculum and recommend desirable changes in a week.

EX-BANK OF ENGLAND MAN SEES DISASTER

Financial Expert Forecasts Doom for U.S. Finance Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—According to the financial statesman threatened with "unrestrained inflation" and a complete collapse of government credit, Dr. O. M. W. L. Jackson, former adviser to the Bank of England and named as special financial adviser to the Treasury, resigned Tuesday in protest against the financial program.

In a letter to the President that predicted disaster would follow the administration's plan for raising commodity prices by increasing the money value of gold, he said the only defense against the dangers of the program was to resign from the Treasury.

"It is possible that there might have been a question of resignation," Dr. Jackson wrote Mr. Hoover.

But no explanation whatever has been offered as to why Dr. Jackson resigned from the Treasury. It was just before that conference that Dr. Jackson came to the Treasury. Previously he had been economic adviser to the Bank of England.

FIGHTS TO OUST COUNCIL MEMBER

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Nov. 22.—Legal proceedings to oust council member L. C. Jackson, who in face of evidence, Dr. O. M. W. L. Jackson, Monday night announced that he would not voluntarily resign his seat, were commenced Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Jackson, who gave him counsel instructions to proceed with the legal proceedings.

It was shown when results of the election in that division were announced today.

The Rutland Standard result almost exactly duplicated the Rutland by-election yesterday, when the Conservative vote was similarly cut drastically.

"I WAS A STRANGER"

In the city police court a few days ago a man was sent to jail for a year for stealing a lamp off a railway switch. It was a serious crime, of course, and the man had been wrecked and people killed as a result. Such things cannot be overlooked by the officers of the law, if there is to be any law or any security.

But listen to the explanation this stranger gave of the circumstances that led to the crime: "I only wanted the lamp to start a fire in the kitchen. I was hungry, and unable to get relief from the city"—because a stranger.

These words have a familiar ring. They recall a stern rebuke that came down the ages: "I was hungry and ye gave me no meat . . . a stranger and ye took me not." A penalty was prescribed for those who treat hungry people and strangers in that way.

The people of Canada would do well to turn back to that forgotten book and read the terrible passages from which these words come. How are we as a nation, wealthier than any nation of the size ever before, squaring up to the obligations of humanity as they come out in the ment of the strangers who have been wandering about the country for the last few years? "Strangers" is a word that is not strangers to Canada at all, but in scores of thousands of cases boys who were born and brought up in Canadian homes.

Canada should have some better way of taking care of these men than leaving them to shiver and hunger in empty box cars.

IS A BY-ELECTION NECESSARY?

The death of Mr. George Webster has left a vacancy in the provincial legislature, which according to statutory procedure should be filled before the next session opens some time early in the new year.
But this procedure is being ignored on at least one occasion, and some measure of latitude is apparently left by the Government as to the holding of by-elections under exceptional circumstances.

With thousands of families on relief in the centres of population, thousands of families in need of assistance in the dried out areas and the general economic depression in the north, and a deficit of $2,000, 000 in the provincial accounts for the year ending with March last, the circumstances are exceptional enough to raise the question of whether it is in the best interests of the province to spend money in holding a by-election at this time. The question is the more pertinent because a general provincial election is due next summer if custom is to be followed, and must in any event be held the following year.

Of course if the electors of Calgary through any representative channel demand that the vacancy be filled, this should be done. Barrage, however, the Government would be justified in the existing circumstances in leaving the seat vacant until the general election. It is evident that the Government is not Mr. Webster was a Liberal member, and the seat "belongs" in political language, to that party. But the Liberals may well be content to cede the seat to the Conservatives, fill the full number in the house for the remainder of the term, in order that the $5,000 or so that would be spent in holding a by-election might be used to supply the relief that is so widely and so acutely needed.

THE DOLLAR COMES FIRST

Liberal newspapers which protested against Premier Bennett being allowed free use of the national broadcasting system on Monday evening did good public service; but they made a political mistake.
If the Premier would go on the air seven nights a week in the same strain, he would drive the Liberals in power at the next election beyond a doubt. The Premier has the public to despair in the meantime. Keeping him off the air would be good for the country, but it would not be good for the Liberals.

The important part of the Premier's speech was on the subject of money, and he set out the position of the Government in three sentences: "The Government is determined to increase purchasing power was to put more dollars in the pockets of the people. But that would 'destroy' the value of the dollars already in existence.

Wherefore the Government will not put more dollars in circulation.

There you have it in a nut-shell. The value of the dollar is to be preserved at all costs. Not its legitimate value, but its present "arbitrary," exaggerated value, the value that has given it to be a primary limitation of the number of dollars that are allowed to circulate. It is a monopoly dollar, which buys two or three times what it should buy; but it is to be kept scarce in order that its price may stay up—in other words that commodity and property prices may stay high.

If business cannot survive and prosper on the present purchasing power "in the pockets of the people" that is just too bad for business, and incidentally for the people.
The artificial value of the dollar is to be maintained whatever happens, and the number of dollars is to be strictly limited in order that scarcity will maintain that artificial value.

Five years ago a bolt from Luna Struck leading humans out of tune.
It tied a Gordian knot on brains—
And only "Luners" on Earth remains.

We read of meetings everywhere
Of "Luners" in session who confer,
To stop the wealth, that rolls in tons, Inciting all but the hungry ones.

They take the coffee which they throw In to the fire, and then they
An act conceived by crazy men Who set not feel at ease again.

And "ragged" planters with their plows
Turn down the cotton in the rows;
But all the miles in fury balk,
On tender plants ready to walk.

They keep the pigs on flaming fires,
And a hundred thousand they destroy.
A hundred thousand they destroy.
The food our poorest would enjoy.

And once again on Thanksgiving Day
We meet to give thanks and pray
To Him that ever feeds that host?

MINING IN CANADA

The Northern Miner, published at Toronto, has issued a mammoth "annual" number, comprising 104 pages. The "annual" contains a complete advertisements, fittingly recording the remarkable activity prevailing in the gold, silver, copper and nickel mining areas of Canada, and the importance of this flourishing industry to Canadian business at home and abroad. Metal-mining is the one industry in Canada that has been prospering during the depression. In part because of the fact that the huge edition of the Miner gives a complete survey of these operations, with glimpses at the past, and indications of still greater future expansion.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COOPER

A wider circle than that comprehended by the Canadian newspaper fraternity will have received with surprise and regret the news of the death of Major Lukin Johnson, who disappeared from the cross-channel steamer while returning from Germany to England. Major Johnson served for several years on western Canadian newspapers before returning to England as a London correspondent. His articles and his letters to the Canadian and English life had given him a wide circle of readers.

I had worked with Major Johnson for several years when we were reporters on the same paper sometimes on the same journal and sometimes on rival papers. His even, almost phlegmatic temperament was reflected in his writing. That he took the short cut out of life sometimes comes as an impulse to me of more brilliant and more erratic writers, is utterly unthinkable. Measured in all his innermost by his work and in his personality, life, untouched by any of the wild desires that sometimes unbalance men, without an enemy in the world, his disappearance is both a shock and a mystery.

Dr. Diesel, inventor of the Diesel engine, disappeared in similar fashion from the deck of a night boat on the cross-channel service in the fall of 1914. Foul play was suggested in the disappearance of Dr. Diesel at the moment when his great invention promised to revolutionize marine engines and to give him a great fortune. Anything that may throw light on the tragic end of Major Johnson will be eagerly sought and scrutinized by his many friends.

It isn't often that after paying my good coin to go and see a moving picture I find myself impulsively to make mention of it in this column, but the charm and brilliance of "The Private Life of King Henry VIII" with Charles C. Hackett as the king monarch ready to sacrifice himself on the marriage bed for the sake of England, out-balances my penurious prejudices. This is the best picture excellence, and Hollywood can sit at the feet of Korda, the London producers and the cast of this extraordinary film and learn.

I don't know whether the scholarly Francis Hackett who wrote "King Henry the Eighth and His Wives"—mention of which I made in this column some months ago—drew a princely consistency as author of the play. He certainly deserves to. There are few film stories, rebased from novels in which the scenarios more obviously understand the historical situation in the case of "The Private Life of King Henry VIII."

Bluff King Hal used to be depicted in history as most royal blooded. From his latest and most successful Canadian picture, he is shown as a high-backed boar, a Falstaff in more than his passion was not so much for women as to be a dandy. He has moved from a position of passion and to give him a great fortune. Anything that may throw light on the tragic end of Major Johnson will be eagerly sought and scrutinized by his
many friends.

The cause of rickets is a lack of vitamin D in the body. Vitamin D has been called the "sunshine" vitamin and in many ways it is the most remarkable vitamin we have. It is the only one which man may take artificially for himself and it is the major cause of rickets in children and in the mineral D can be put into the body through eating foods containing it, or your body may make it for you when the ultra-violet rays of the sun are absorbed by the body skin for sufficient time.

It is the only vitamin to be built up by exposure to sunlight and the sun must be considered an immense source of vitamin D, especially during the summer months.

The intense, year-around sunlight which floods down in the tropics furnishes the unclouded source of vitamin D to grow strong bones and healthy teeth, and in the slightest degree of rickets.

The Eskimo baby, shut away from the sun six months at a time during the northern winter, could not depend upon the sun's rays to protect him from rickets, nevertheless, he is safe from the disease.

Even during the months of the Eskimo, the mother pregnancy and during the nursing period, contains plenty of the fish foods so rich in vitamin D.
Through his food he is supplied with sufficient vitamin D to grow strong bones and healthy teeth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Olive O. writes: "I have found that milk, butter, cheese, ice cream (all milk products), and eggs are rich in vitamin D. I have also found which is supposed to be bad for the complexion, without the above-mentioned milk products, one must get the vitamin D from cod-liver oil.

However, cod-liver oil causes the same

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

Even today, some parents believe that to cure a baby of rickets you must find a young ash tree, make a long split in it, and then tie the split together, you must pass the baby between the split parts. The tree is tied back together, plastered with mud, and the healing of the child from rickets is supposed to take place at the same time as the healing of the tree. If the tree lives, this will mean that the child will live.

To us, this is a very curious story, and it is hard to understand that anyone would prefer to believe it. We now know how to prevent and cure rickets in young children and if parental knowledge about this disease were applied to every disease, rickets would almost completely disappear. That many mothers do not know how to protect their babies from rickets is shown by the fact that in the last five years fifty-five per cent of all bottle-fed babies show some signs of rickets during the winter months.

The time of year during which rickets is most likely to occur is from November to May, with the peak of the cases coming in March. The age at which it develops is between the sixth to the eighteenth months.

While rickets is a disease of the whole body, the bones are the parts most noticeably affected and it is from the softening of the bones that the disease takes its name, which comes from an Old English word, "wricken," which means to bend or twist.

This probably refers to the bending of the arms and as bowing is one of the most characteristic symptoms of rickets.

In addition to bow-legs, rickets may cause a de-formity of the chest called "ragged" or "pigeon" chest, in some cases the bones of the spine may fail to grow normally, producing spinal curvature. The teeth may be badly formed, and the entire fontanel of the skull may be slow in closing so that the baby keeps his "soft spot" on the top of the head longer than he should. Failure of the bones to harden properly is always present in cases of advanced rickets.

Some of the earlier symptoms of rickets which appear before the changes in the bones take place are irritability, restlessness, sweating, and in some cases the bones of the spine may fail to grow normally, producing spinal curvature. The teeth
may be badly formed, and the entire fontanel of the skull may be slow in closing so that the baby keeps his "soft spot" on the top of the head longer than he should. Failure of the bones to harden properly is always present in cases of advanced rickets.

THE DUNCY DUNCIES

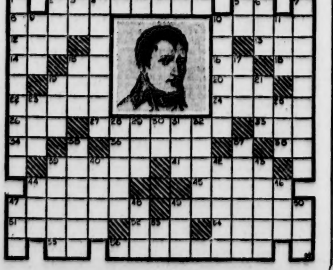

As Duncy eyed the ditty he said, "That's the way it ought to be. Just seven stars are left, now that you've chased the others out." The Star Man smiled and said, "Well, I couldn't find you, and I'm glad. You've proved to me that I know what the stars are all about."

"Gee, a lot of things still puzzle me. For instance, there are Northern ones. Now, where do they come from?" "The sun them blasing in the sky, to brighten things up," way up high. Please tell me all about them, even though I may seem dumb."

Plan To Unite Veterans For National Convention

BRG.-GEN. ROSS LAWYERS DRIVE AT REGINA MEET

No March on Ottawa, But Unified Action of All Ex-Soldiers Along New Lines For Mutual Interests.

REGINA, Nov. 22.—Launching a campaign for the unification of returned soldiers' organizations, and for gaining financial support to make possible a national convention, Brig.-Gen. Alex Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O., vice-president of the Dominion command and provincial president of the Canadian Legion, addressed a mass meeting of ex-soldiers here last night.

He stated clearly that there was no move on foot to organize a march on Ottawa, but rather that there should be a nation-wide convention for the purpose of outlining future policies of the organization in relation to pensions, service preferences and employment.

The meeting was representative not only of members of the Legion, but other ex-soldiers' organizations and unaffiliated veterans.

FINANCIAL HANDICAP. General Ross pointed out that the Legion was handicapped for want of funds, and that it was "not abroad," he said, "that we are broke."

He emphasized that it was necessary for the Legion to develop new lines, to take care of those who need taking care of, 10 drew attention to the fact that in the Dominion of Canada there are 130,000 members in the Legion, and that all were able to pay their dues, there would be sufficient to finance the undertakings necessary.

He stated that the Legion was not financially or bureaucratically handicapped, showing that although there was a $100,000 grant from the federal government, this was for the purpose of the research bureau maintained for the purpose of placing claims of veterans before the proper authorities.

MANITOBA TEAMS WIN HIGH HONORS

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—Manitoba's representatives had night scored highest honors in two of the six projects of a pig iron contest staged by the Canadian council on boys and girls club work at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

Six girls and 50 boys composed the team from the Dominion's nine provinces. Their trips to Toronto came after victories in their home district and provincial climactic contests.

Two young women from Manitoba stood first in the poultry project.

Amoebic Disease Reported At 'Peg

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22.—Traces of amoebic dysentery, disease which reached many cities of United States and Canada apparently from visitors to the Chicago World's Fair, have appeared in Winnipeg.

Dr. A. J. Douglas, medical health officer, said one case had come to his knowledge unofficially. Extent of the disease in Winnipeg was difficult to estimate because it is not a reportable disease, he said. He did not think it had gained much ground, however.

Lumber Increase In U.S. Predicted

Heartless Harold Yeams Frontal Cavities Make Him Languid For Teeth of Diamonds

Heartless Harold McMaster has a yen to wear diamonds. Other lovers have worn diamond teeth, but the Alberta Assessor wants diamond teeth. Two of the Unknown Underseeker's front teeth are missing. This is not a personal reflection on life, as stated of fact—and can be called some of the honorable stars suffered by Heartless Harold during his long career as Alberta's champion killer. Other items are more marked, black teeth with checker two eyes beaten in level with outline of neck; head slightly twisted; chin rigidly denied; head-lamps kinda woozy looking; knuckles frequently fractured; and shoulder-blades kinda flattened out through being knocked flat on his back so often by crowd who look on his unfair advantage of him.

Heartless Harold went to Daniel Lynch, his manager, and said to him quite simply: "Mr. Lynch, I would like a pair of diamond teeth."—Just like that—a great big boy at heart.

PENITENTIARY INMATES GO ON RAMPAGE

Smash Machinery, Fire Quarters in Revolt Before Subdued

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—In the most damaging riot in the century-long history of Eastern State penitentiary, 75 prisoners broke into open revolt within its walls Tuesday.

Taking advantage of the "yard-out" call, marking the exercise period for the 1,300 prisoners confined in the institution, the 75 rioters smashed machinery in the shops, fired the dye house and kitchen, and partially burned the chaplain's quarters.

A city-wide police alarm was sounded and 300 officers were rushed to the scene to augment the details of state troopers that have been stationed within the walls for several weeks since the first of a series of disorders.

The latest was last Sunday when a group of prisoners made a vain attempt to escape over the walls by means of a makeshift ladder. It was for that attempt "break" that the 75 men who rioted yesterday had been segregated from their fellow prisoners.

With riot guns flashing and tear gas bombs ready, and while machine guns barked from the prison towers, the rioters were herded into unoccupied cell blocks to restore comparative quiet. But although the riot had been subdued, a cordon of police patrolled the institution last night, prepared for a renewed "break."

Reports from inside the prison walls said many prisoners were injured in the fighting disorder, but this was flatly denied by Warden Herbert J. (Hard-boiled) Smith.

Without any hesitation I can say that the United Farmers of Ontario, as a loyal institution, will evolve its own policy. What that policy will be is a matter for the United Farmers of Ontario themselves to decide," Mr. Scott said.

U. F. O. EVOLVES ITS OWN POLICY

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—J. J. Scott, president of the United Farmers of Ontario, said yesterday the U. F. O. would evolve its own policy. He said next month whether it would continue as an affiliated unit of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. The C.C.F. programme, drawn up at Regina during the summer, will be considered at the meeting.

Speculator Had Too Much Appetite

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A plan by which he would pay 65 per cent. of his $200,000 debts over a period of 10 years was submitted to a creditors meeting Tuesday by Dr. F. A. Crawford, whose $50,000 holdings were wiped out in the July crash of the Chicago grain market.

Early in August the former speculator physician failed to pay his debts in full over a three-year period. Last night it was decided that procedure would place him under the great a hand in his efforts to make a comeback in the cotton market.

He is confident he will come "back," since said, "His illness was financial indigestion—he swallowed more than he could chew properly."

B.C. Labor Asks Relief Fund Probe

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22.—Thorough investigation of the handling of unemployment funds throughout British Columbia by the last administration with a view that any one found guilty of "malfeasance of office" be prosecuted, was recommended in a resolution passed by the Vancouver and New Westminster District Trades and Labor Council last night.

Based on an announcement by the union leader John Hart that approximately $1,000,000 marked for unemployment relief was not used for that purpose, the resolution is being forwarded to Premier T. D. Pattullo.

IRISH ELECTIONS LIVENING UP

DUBLIN, Nov. 22.—Thirty-six candidates are contesting the 30 seats in which polling will take place in the Northern Ireland general elections Nov. 30. The battle continues furiously despite the fact that the Unionist government has given the Sinn Féin government a majority of 10 seats in the outcome of the polling.

At the same time a battle in a conference of the League of Nations and special existing peace treaties was discussed as a possibility yesterday by the League of Nations.

Several leading delegates had agreed that the conference president, Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, should be authorized to convene sub-committees if he deemed it wise and that during the interim parallel conversations should be conducted by the various powers with the object of getting Germany back into the negotiations.

Nothing authoritative attached to the talk of the new conference but it was understood that Great Britain might support the recommendation project.

All Advertising Audiences Come From the Newspaper Family

Because whatever else people may see or hear, they all have the daily newspaper reading habit.

EVERY advertiser talks to newspaper readers no matter what method of advertising he employs.

He may use letters or circulars to address his prospective customers.

He may employ advertising signs to catch the eye of those who walk or ride past.

He may broadcast a message to those who listen to the radio.

He may make his appeal through the columns of popular magazines.

But in every case, his advertising gets to habitual newspaper readers—to people who read the papers today and will read them again tomorrow.

Therefore, newspaper advertisers enjoy the unique advantage of reaching all who are reached by any advertising and many more whom only newspapers reach.

This obvious reason for the continued success of newspaper advertising should receive the thoughtful consideration of every merchant and manufacturer. Business is improving—particularly for those willing to look for it.

Newspaper advertising gets to everybody every day-- and gets there FIRST.

MANAGERS OF THE LEAFS

Canada Prominent in New York's Horse Show

Beaten in their first start of the season at Seattle Monday, Edmonton Eskimos make another bid for a win in Portland this evening. . . . There is little actual dog available on the Portland squad, so that it is not an easy matter to attempt to pick a winner. . . . One thing is certain, however, and that is that the Eskies have had the benefit of one game and will be harder to beat every time out. . . .

DETROIT WINS FROM LONDON BY 3-1 SCORE

Goldworthy Scores on Solo Rush to Prevent Shutout

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 22.—Detroit's Olympic lightening their host on first place in the International Hockey League here Tuesday night by beating the London Tecumseh 3-1.

Gus Marker was the scoring star of the evening, getting two goals and being credited with an assist. Detroit outplayed London most of the game but did not lead in the second period until the stands had gone to 1817. Then Macrae took a pass from Marker, skated around the Tecumseh defense, cut in sharply and put a shot into the net.

Down cast, Boston Bruins seem to have swung into the stride that carried them to the top of the National Hockey League. . . . From early-season performances, it would appear that Bruins, Rangers and Detroit look good for a winter campaign in the U. S. section, with the battle being pretty much between Maple Leafs and Los Angeles in the Canadian section. . . .

Johnny Sheppard, the ex-Eskimo and ex-New York American, is back in Boston Bruins' lineup again after being out for some time with a broken wrist, suffered at the start of the training season. . . . Johnny was helped by Bruins this fall. . . . Lowry, whom they called the "mystery man" when he first appeared around Toronto football camps last year, is in his glory now. . . .

GIANT BOXERS MEET TONIGHT AT NEW YORK

Tommy Loughran Opposes Impellittere for 10-Round Bout

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Boxing unveils the latest word in fight heavyweights at the Coliseum tonight, as Ray Impellittere, one of the best men ever spelt it. The name is Ray Impellittere, one of the best men ever spelt it. The name is Ray Impellittere, one of the best men ever spelt it.

He is 24 years old, six feet 11 inches in height, official scoring, he weighs approximately 260 pounds when well nourished. He fights Tommy Loughran, the veteran from Philadelphia, who has years has made a business of cutting down men of that size. The match is for 10 rounds.

In five years, most of it spent absorbing intensive schooling in gymnastics, Impellittere, naively early in his career, was called "The Bull" by his opponent. "The Bull" has had only nine fights. Eight of them were nudge-outs and the ninth was a nine-round knockout of Jose Santa, one of the better fighters who was rushed here from Portugal when people started paying for the original prize.

No one has the faintest idea whether or not "The Bull" is a former high school athlete from Poughkeepsie, an eight rounder who kept himself warm in the big Bronx barn which has little or no heating system.

An answer from the German Olympic committee to the resolution it passed Monday condemning alleged discrimination in Germany against athletes of Jewish faith was accepted without comment at the closing session.

An effort to change the present rule on amateur bouts to conform to the Olympic standard of five two-minute rounds was defeated as applied to national championships, but regional associations were left to decide the matter for themselves. The weight of the gloves was increased to eight ounces for six for senior events and from six to 10 for junior.

GRID FINALS FOR SENIORS NOT CERTAIN

CANADIAN THRONE WITHOUT OCCUPANT Unless Big Change Possible

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—The senior football season will wind up quietly Saturday with a group of champions to let the Canadian throne down for a year without an occupant, unless unexpected developments within the next 24 hours bring a settlement in a situation apparently hopelessly deadlocked. At the same time the Canadian Rugby Union may pass out of existence. The revenue that permits the organization to function is derived from the annual senior play-downs and if these are done away with this season the C.R.U. it was said Tuesday, would not have funds to call an annual meeting or semi-annual meeting and junior championships.

Argonauts and Montreal will do the on-again off-again thing Saturday at Montreal. Sarnia Imperial, O.R.F.U. champions and Winnipeg challenge from the west are standing by but neither will agree to play a game made by the C.R.U.

As for the deadlocked seniors, the week-end, there is every prospect that there will be no position filling.
